3jam SuperText

by: Bena Roberts Thursday, June 19th, 2008

3jam has announced the private beta launch of its new SuperText[®] service. SuperText[®] revolutionizes Web-based text messaging with a new patent-pending PresenceText[®] technology that intelligently routes messages to a user's computer or mobile device depending on their location.

Finally users can easily start a text conversation on their computer, where they benefit from a full QWERTY keyboard and free sending and receiving of messages. The PresenceText feature enables users to continue a conversation from their phone even when they have walked away from their PC. SuperText also saves the messages to the user's online history regardless of whether they are delivered to their computer or mobile phone.

What we think?

This is a simple idea. They are usually the best. It says Patent Pending - 3Jam need to get this patent. I love the idea of the PresenceText. Others have implied this but this on SMS would be a killer.

- A Windows-style dialog box with a blue title bar containing a red 'X' icon and the text 'Congratulations!'. The main area has a grey background and contains the text: 'You have won our hourly prize. Click the "OK" button to claim it before time runs out.' To the right of the text is a small hourglass icon. At the bottom right is an 'OK' button. The title bar also contains standard window control icons (minimize, maximize, close).
